The Best Organic Products

These gorgeous goodies prove that all-natural can be all-luxe

Gemma Ward

Daria Werbowy

Lily Donaldson

Supermodels' Favorite

The hottest faces on the runway are hooked on Dr. Hauschka, the holistic line made with ingredients grown on a German farm. Gemma

Ward swears by the lotions (try Moisturizing Day Cream; $27.95, far right) to maintain her trademark fresh face, and Daria Werbowy uses Quince Day Cream ($32.50, near right) on her dewy skin. For shiny tresses, Lily Donaldson loves Pure Shampoo ($19.50) and Herbal Hair Conditioner ($21.95).

Dr. Hauschka products are available at saffronrouge.com

Must-Have Brands

Forget ho-hum, hippie-dippy products. These days, organic has gone glam. Pharmacopia wraps its aromatic treats in the prettiest packaging, while Ayurvedic and vegan range Body Bistro is a celebrity favorite. French import Doux Me mixes essential oils and exotic floral waters in its so-chic skincare line, and devoted fans clamor for Kiss My Face's classic, sweet-smelling soaps, shampoos and scrubs.

Body Bistro Bamboo + Wine Body Buff ($35)

Pharmacopia Organic Ginger Soap ($11, above); Doux Me Eye Contour Cream ($85, right)

Kiss My Face Big Kiss Lavender + Tangerine organic soap ($10)

Editors' Picks

Kerry Diamond, beauty director: Eskandar Neroli & Lemon Body Wash (1; $29) and Real Vanilla Moisturising Body Milk (2; $36) keep skin soft and smell amazing.

Victoria Kirby, beauty editor: I love the subtle, relaxing scent of Farmaesthetics Nourishing Lavender Milk lotion (3; $23).

Alyssa Kolsky, assistant beauty editor: Jurlique Lip Care Balm (4; $32) is a must. I always carry one in my purse.

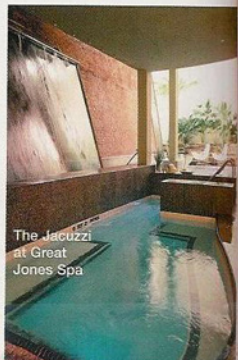

Spa Spotlight:

Great Jones Spa

At this urban oasis, all of the products used in the luxurious services are free of chemicals and preservatives. So go ahead and indulge in a soothing Jurlique or Naturopathica facial, relax with a Red Flower Japan body treatment and feel like a natural beauty.

Great Jones Spa, 29 Great Jones Street, New York, NY 10012; 212-505-3185
