

NFT™

Not For Tourists™ Guide to NEW YORK CITY

On Our Radar

Monday, March 31, 2008

Juice, Gossip, Goatees

Not only is this a fantastic place to pick up a freshly squeezed/ground/whatever juice, if you stick around long enough, you might be lucky enough to encounter their bespectacled, goatee-clad, Christian Slater-coifed stylist from the next-door salon chat loudly about a litany of random stuff on the floor of the cafe. I once stuck around for an extra five minutes just to hear him talk oodles of trash about competitor-cuts. Regardless, the counter servers are absolutely lovely and endlessly helpful. They're always pleasant and smiley and the beat juice is stellar. Also, if you're ever sniffly, try out this NFT secret: green tea mixed with a squeeze of lemon, a teaspoon of honey and a freshly juiced chunk of ginger. That oughta get you back on a healthy track.

www.notfortourists.com

Atlanta - Boston - Chicago - Los Angeles - New York City - Philadelphia - San Francisco - Seattle - Washington DC

©2006